Double Alpha HR Consulting Ltd

Job Reference: KRSALES20260801

Job Opening: Sales Manager

Location: South Korea / Local remote / Requires short-term initial training in China

Industry: Footwear Accessories Industry

Job Responsibilities

As a key member of the overseas business division, this role is responsible for market expansion and the complete sales lifecycle for footwear auxiliary materials in South Korea. Leveraging their proprietary patented products—including rotary buckles, magnetic buckles, shoe lights, and insoles—you will independently develop mid-to-high-end local footwear and apparel brand clients, build localized distribution channels, achieve personal sales and collection targets, and drive market share growth and brand penetration overseas.

- Independently formulate regional client acquisition plans and sales execution strategies, take full responsibility for regional sales and accounts receivable (AR) targets, and be accountable for final performance results.

- Proactively develop local sports, casual, and children's footwear brand clients, deeply analyze their product requirements, and manage the full-link sales process covering requirement matching, proposal pricing, commercial negotiation, and contract signing.

- Maintain long-term cooperative relationships with existing clients, oversee order production, delivery, and after-sales processes, and identify growth opportunities to enhance account volume and repeat purchase rates.

- Monitor footwear material industry trends, competitor dynamics, and shifts in brand client demands within the local market, regularly feeding back insights to headquarters to support product optimization, pricing strategies, and market positioning.

- Comply with corporate sales management standards, update sales progress and client portfolios, and collaborate with headquarters on business reviews and data reporting.

Educational Background & Work Experience

- Minimum of 2 years of sales experience in the footwear auxiliary materials industry (familiar with soles, uppers, webbing, buckles, shoe accessories, etc.). Existing resources within footwear and apparel brands are preferred.

- Proven track record of successful footwear/apparel brand client acquisition, with full-cycle experience in developing top-tier brand clients from scratch to formal cooperation. Benchmark client resources are a plus.

- Highly self-driven and goal-oriented, capable of independently managing sales pressure, with exceptional commercial negotiation, client retention, and market insight capabilities.